

Anthony Ellard MACS (Snr) CP

Anthony Ellard is a committed and engaged Professional with fourteen years' experience with the Australian Computer Society. He is driven by excellence and outstanding results and have demonstrated that commitment through a variety of projects and programs.

He is a Certified Professional of the ACS, which awards an individual for their competencies as an ICT professional.

For the past 8 years he has specialised in engaging and enabling ICT Professionals to be recognized and develop their careers through ACS Certification, and the ACS MySFIA solution which uses the Skills Framework for the Information Age (SFIA) to measure a candidate's skills and competencies.

He has worked continuously in driving continued professional development training for ICT professionals, using his in-depth knowledge and implementation of SFIA for individual and organisational career planning.
